“Phase II Trials in Oncology”

(Abstract: In many cancer trials the experimental agent is expected to induce severe toxicity, and these trials are usually designed with small sample sizes and a stopping rule which stops early for futility. In these uncontrolled trials, if there is more than one group of patients the standard designs may not work very well, but there is a fairly “quick fix”.)

Free of charge. We will provide pizza and drink. Please RSVP by November 9th, 2007 with Xuesong Guan at Amylin (Xuesong.Guan@amylin.com).
